

H. Marvin Bastian

July 15, 1920 to May 24, 2008

Today our dad died.

Dad believed in giving, beginning with his family, and extending to his community.

He possessed a deep faith which guided his path. His friends knew him as a hardworking entrepreneur whose first business venture as a youngster was selling bags of popcorn at the local movie theater. To us, he was a father who loved his family deeply and unconditionally, so he was always proud of us. We will miss him.

~The Bastian Family and The Fidelity Family

